REGULATIONS

OUR VALUES

Our philosophy is based on the essential values of mountain running, which are shared by all those involved in this sport. Authenticity and fair play hold a central place in our vision and serve as guiding principles for our daily actions.

AUTHENTICITY

Authenticity is the primary value of mountain running. This sport is founded on the harmony between human beings and nature. It promotes sportsmanship based on simplicity, coexistence, sharing, and a profound respect for differences. The mountain running community values authenticity as much as physical performance.

HUMILITY

Humility is a fundamental value in mountain running. Listening and learning together provide us with a deeper understanding of the principles governing nature and our fundamental comprehension of a challenging sport in a wild environment. Humility involves recognising our own limits and not jeopardising our physical or mental capabilities.

FAIR PLAY

Fair play refers to accepting the rules and the spirit that supports them. It entails each participant embodying the values of mountain running, such as mutual aid towards other runners and respect for all those involved in the races.

RESPECT

Respect applies to oneself, others, and the environment. Respecting others involves having a mindful attitude that respects fellow mountain runners, the local population, their culture, customs, and traditions. Respecting oneself entails taking care of one's own health, rejecting the use of doping substances, and being aware of the dangers of excessive self-medication. Respecting the environment means preserving the fragile natural surroundings in which we run and minimising our environmental impact.

SOLIDARITY

Solidarity is a necessity for survival in the natural environment. It involves helping one another to progress together. Therefore, each participant in a mountain race is obliged to assist anyone in danger or experiencing difficulties. In addition to this community aspect, many athletes are committed to environmental, social, or other noble goals and run to promote these objectives. By doing so, they express their responsibility towards humanity and the environment in which they run.

OUR MISSION

Our mission is to promote mountain running while upholding its ethical values. We strive to make this sport accessible to all, celebrating its diversity of cultures and practice locations.

We are committed to structuring the discipline and sharing best practices to ensure the highest quality in the organisation of sporting events. Our goal is to promote a sport where the joy of mountain running goes hand in hand with safety, health, and respect for the environment.

We seek to maintain constructive relationships with institutions, athletic federations, and mountain running associations at the local, national, and international levels. We actively participate in the development of sustainable practices that prioritise environmental preservation.

Furthermore, we are dedicated to sharing our sportsmanship ethics with children through local educational centres and involving parents to promote the values of mountain running. We strive to be a positive force in fostering a culture of respect, inclusion, and sustainability in the sport, while emphasizing the care and preservation of natural ecosystems.

Resolutions for these claims will be addressed and communicated within a maximum period of two months after the completion of the event.

It is crucial to consider that claims received through other email addresses or communication channels will not be accepted. Participants are advised to stay informed about any updates or changes in the claims policies by regularly checking the official event website.

REGULATIONS

PARTICIPATION RULES

COVID-19.

To ensure the safety of all participants and in compliance with the relevant health regulations, the mandatory use of face masks will be required at all times during the race in the case of COVID-19. Additionally, the organisation reserves the right to modify the schedules and the starting location if it is necessary to implement required COVID-19 protocols, always providing sufficient advance notice through the race website and other appropriate channels.

The start will be carried out while respecting the current protocols and sanitary measures at the time of the event, paying special attention to the safety distance between participants and the possible staggered start of the runners every few seconds. In the latter case, the participant's race time will correspond to their net time after crossing the start line. The organisation is committed to the safety and health of all participants and will cooperate to the best of their ability to comply with the established protocols and sanitary measures.

Appearance.

To participate in the race, it is mandatory to properly display the race bib on the front of the shirt and wear appropriate clothing and footwear for the competition. Additionally, it is recommended that runners carry a mobile phone with them in case of emergencies during the race.

Physical Conditions.

To participate in any of the races, it is necessary to have good physical fitness and be prepared to face the difficulty and demands of the route. It is important for participants to assess their level of preparedness and ensure they have the necessary experience and physical ability to cover the distance and overcome the elevation changes of the itinerary, as each race has a high level of difficulty. If unsure about their physical condition, it is recommended to consult with a healthcare professional before participating in the race.

Route.

It is recommended for runners to stay on the marked path at all times and not deviate from the established route, for their safety and to prevent terrain erosion and protect the environment. Additionally, it is important to respect the rules of coexistence with other runners and the residents of the areas through which the race passes.

Runners should be aware that the race takes place in protected natural areas, and respect for the environment is essential for the conservation of these areas. Therefore, littering or discarding waste along the route is strictly prohibited, and runners who fail to comply with this rule will be penalised.

Furthermore, it is important to note that the organisation reserves the right to modify the route or cancel the race in case of adverse weather conditions or other circumstances that may endanger the safety of the participants or the natural environment. In such cases, runners will be informed of the modifications through the established communication channels.

Vehicles and Animals.

During the event, participants are not allowed to use any type of vehicle. Furthermore, it is strictly prohibited to be accompanied by animals during the race.

Timing.

To ensure the proper execution of the race, it is mandatory for participants to pass through all the designated checkpoints, including the start and finish. The race will have an approved timing system controlled by chips, and several intermediate checkpoints will be set up to ensure accurate timing of the participants.

External Assistance.

Accompanying a runner by another person, whether a runner or not, is not allowed as it is considered external assistance and may result in penalties. Similarly, any type of assistance and/or refreshment outside the designated areas, such as the race aid stations, will also be considered external assistance and is therefore not allowed.

SAFETY

Mobile Application.

To ensure the safety of all runners, it is recommended that they carry a mobile phone that can be used in case of emergencies, withdrawal, or rescue. Additionally, it is advised to download the mobile application "SOS Emergencias," available on the Play Store and Apple Store, which allows for notifying Marbella Civil Protection in case assistance is required in an emergency situation. This way, we can act quickly and effectively in the event of any unforeseen situation during the race.

Start and Finish.

During the start, we will have the presence of local police and organisation personnel to ensure proper control. However, once the runners are on the road, they will encounter regular traffic. It is important for the runners to always respect traffic regulations and follow the established signage instructions for the race, in order to ensure the safety of both participants and other users of the public roads.

Alternative Route.

In the event of adverse weather conditions that may affect the safety of the participants, the organisation may establish an alternative route, which will be communicated in a timely manner to all runners. If this change needs to be made after the race has started, participants will be informed at the corresponding checkpoint. The organisation reserves the right to modify the route or even cancel the race due to force majeure or when the health and safety of the runners, volunteers, and attending public cannot be guaranteed.

Sweep Team.

During the competition, there will be a security team (sweep team) responsible for closing each distance of the race and verifying the passage of all participants. Despite having a trained medical and security team, it is important to consider that the natural environment in which the race takes place and the long distances involved can make medical assistance challenging. Therefore, it is the responsibility of each participant to ensure they carry the appropriate and mandatory equipment in their backpack to guarantee their safety.

Abandonment.

The organisation will have specialised personnel providing healthcare at strategic points along the route and at the corresponding checkpoints. It is mandatory to follow the instructions of this personnel, who will be properly identified. In case of abandonment, it is important to communicate it as soon as possible at the nearest checkpoint to the abandonment location. The organisation's staff will remove the chip while maintaining the race number. In addition, there will be medical personnel and ambulances available to intervene in case of emergencies at strategic points along the route.

Reaching the Finish Line.

The organisation is responsible for ensuring the safety and well-being of all participants, but it is important to note that each athlete is responsible for their own arrival at the finish line, except in the case of accidents, serious injuries, or major causes. Furthermore, there will be designated cut-off times until the completion of the race, and if these times are not met, the organisation will have vehicles that will pick up athletes who do not meet the cut-off time.

In the event that a participant is unable to complete the race within the established time limit, the organisation will provide vehicles to pick them up at designated evacuation points for runners. These areas will be clearly marked and located at strategic points along the route. Participants can wait there to be picked up by the organisation's vehicle and transported to the finish line. It is important to note that these areas are exclusively for the evacuation of runners and not for the waiting of companions or the general public.

Diseases or Medication Allergies.

During the registration process, participants are requested to inform the organisation about any diseases or medication allergies that may be relevant in case of needing medical attention. It is important to highlight that this information is essential to ensure appropriate and timely medical care in the event of any unforeseen circumstances during the competition. Therefore, participants are recommended to provide all relevant and up-to-date information at the time of registration.

REGULATIONS

Medication.

If a participant is taking any prescribed medication, it is their responsibility to carry it throughout the entire race and administer it according to medical instructions. Self-medication is not recommended, and it is advised to follow the instructions of a healthcare professional. It is important to note that the healthcare services will not be held responsible for any possible adverse effects or side effects that may occur due to self-medication or incorrect use of medication. If there are any doubts or concerns, it is recommended to consult with a healthcare professional before the race.

DISQUALIFICATIONS

The CxM Sierra Blanca sports event is made possible thanks to the dedicated work of volunteers who tirelessly strive to preserve the nature and beauty of the Sierra surrounding the city of Marbella.

It is important to emphasise that the race organisation, as well as the individuals in charge of each checkpoint and refreshment station along the course, have the necessary authority to enforce the regulations and ensure the proper development of the race.

In the event of any violation of the regulations, the corresponding penalties will be applied as stipulated in the previously established penalty chart. This way, we ensure the maintenance of a sporting spirit and respect for the natural environment that surrounds us.

It is expected that all participants in the CxM Sierra Blanca event act responsibly and respectfully towards the environment. Any action that damages the natural surroundings, such as littering outside designated bins, removing, uprooting, or altering any living or inanimate natural element, or deviating from the established course markings, will be considered a violation of the race regulations. This not only has a negative impact on the environment but also jeopardises the conservation of nature and its biodiversity. Therefore, the collaboration of all participants is requested to maintain ethical and responsible behaviour throughout the race.

Furthermore, participants are asked to carry and manage their waste responsibly until they reach the designated disposal areas indicated by the organisers. Broken trekking poles can be handed in at a checkpoint.
